Greater Farallones NMS Advisory Council Adopts Site Selection Process Recommendations of Kelp Recovery Working Group

At its November 14th meeting, the Greater Farallones National Marine Sanctuary Advisory Council voted to approve the site selection process recommendations of the Kelp Recovery Working Group. The site selection process recommendations outline the process by which sites should be selected for recovery action. The priority for these recommendations is to compile all criterion datasets in spatially explicit way for application to site-selection decision tree.
